

What Can We Do In Patients With Palliative Care That Can Improve Their Quality Of Life or Even Cure Them?

Huang Wei Ling

University of São Paulo, Brazil

Abstract

Palliative care is a relative new specialty recognized by some countries and aims to provide cancer's patients end of care. And it is defined by the World Health Organization as the care of patients that are with life-threatening illness, with early detection and preventing measurements to reduce their morbidity and mortality. According to traditional Chinese medicine, cancer came from energy deficiency and Heat retention. And through the author's studies, chronic patients have energies deficiencies in the chakras' energy centers (diabetes, hypertension, myocardial infarction, cancer, etc).

Biography

Huang Wei Ling, born in Taiwan, raised and graduated in medicine in Brazil, specialist in infectious and parasitic diseases, a General

Practitioner and Parenteral and Enteral Medical Nutrition Therapist.